Civil Rebellion in Korea Causes Rhee to Bow Out

Five Negro Students Go on Trial

By GENE KRAMER

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korea's acting president, installed after civil rebellion toppled Syngman Rhee, pledged himself today to political reforms. He even aimed his new broom at what he called "waste and mismanagement" in the U.S.-Korean aid program.

Huh Chung, named foreign minister by Rhee as the regime started to buckle under revolutionary anger, took over the powers of the presidency early today. Huh and his Cabinet, which thus far has only two other members, will serve as a caretaker regime until a new president and vice president are elected. The Constitution requires this to be done within three months.

Huh, 64, an independent politician and former premier, called a news conference soon after Rhee, fulfilling a promise, that he had resigned the presidency he had held ever since South Korea became a republic 12 years ago.

He outlined this nation's most important problems to be dealt with after healing the wounds inflicted by more than a week of bloody civil uprisings. High on his list were the questions of relations with the United States and Japan.

"I plan to establish proper measures to improve these relations as soon as possible and make particular efforts to carry them out," Huh said.

"Frankly, I think there is need to improve understanding between the United States and Korea and bring about closer cooperation.

There are certain areas in relations between the nations where things should have been handled more properly."

The unsatisfactory areas, Huh said, are economic aid, military aid.

Under the Rhee administration, Huh added, "I think there was waste and mismanagement."

The incumbent vice president, John M. Chang, a member of the Democratic opposition, resigned in protest last week.

The vice president-elect, Lee Ki-pung, was in hiding to escape the wrath of demonstrators who claimed his election March 15 was unconstitutional.

Harold Anderson of Little Rock and George A. Howard of Pine Bluff, attorneys for the five students, argued that the act permits the state to use its police powers in helping private businesses maintain segregation.

In overruling the motion, Kirby noted the act makes no mention of race.

Prosecutor Frank Holl had a list of a dozen state witnesses, including city patrolmen.

The defendants are Chester Briggs, 18, of Hot Springs; Charles Parker, 22, of St. Louis; Vernon Mott, 19, of Little Rock; Eldridge Davis, 19, of Malvern; and Frank James, 21, of Oklahoma City.

They were fined $250 each and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Municipal Judge Quinn Glover March 17, but appealed to circuit court. They have been free on bond.

A second demonstration was staged the day they were tried in municipal court, but no arrests were made that day. Since then Negroes have repeated sit-ins at downtown stores and also have picketed two department stores.

Eight other Philander Smith students are appealing convictions on charges stemming from department store lunch counter sit-ins April 13. They were fined $250 and sentenced to 60 days in jail each by Judge Glover last week.

Two of the eight were fined an additional $150 and given another 30-day jail sentence for violating a law making it a misdemeanor to refuse to leave a business establishment.

All are free on bond.

Deadline Finds Five in Race for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A fifth man entered the governor's race and opponents filed against Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and 5th District Rep. Dale Alford as the ticket closed for the Democratic primary today.

Sen. John McClellan got by without opposition for a fourth term.

Justice Jim Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court, who had been speculated as a possible opponent, said he would not run for the Senate.

Hal Millsap, 38, of St. Jo, was the unexpected entry in the governor's race.

Leroy Hickman, 48, of Little Rock, a real estate and insurance broker, filed against the veteran Gordon.

State Sen. Robert Hays Williams of Russellville qualified as a candidate against Alford, who is in his first term.

Alford was the second House incumbent to draw opposition.

Donald Poe of Waldron had filed previously against Rep. J. W. Trimble of the 3rd District.

No one opposes the remaining four House members.

Williams filed four minutes before the ticket closed at noon.

Hickman filed about an hour before while Millsap paid his $1,500 fee in the governor's race about mid-morning.

The other candidates are Gov. Orval E. Faubus who seeks an unprecedented fourth term, Joe E. Hardin of Grady, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett and H. E. Williams, president of Southern Baptist College at Walnut Ridge.

Asked why he decided to make the race, Millsap told newsmen: "I have made half a dozen trips to South America and Central America in the past two years, and the name of Arkansas is a bad word down there. I want to see if there is anything I can do to change that."

Millsap, who appeared at Hall's office in sports clothes, paid his fee with a personal check. He said no one put him in the race.

The candidate, a native of Idabel, Okla., who has lived in Arkansas for 28 years, said he had no definite program in mind for changing the Arkansas situation.

Millsap is married and has a 15-year-old son and two daughters, 12 and 5.

He said he heard Chel Lauch, former member of the Lum and Abner radio team, speak at Harrison last week and that this speech impressed him with the need for more integrity in political leadership.

Deadline for filing was noon today.

Henry M. Britt, a 40-year-old Hot Springs attorney, is the only candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Donald Layne of Kansas City, who ran for the GOP nomination in 1958 but withdrew before the election, said today he wouldn't seek the office again. Layne told the Associated Press Kansas City he once intended to file, but now has a government job he wants to keep.

Arkansans Favors Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Arkansas congressmen, all heads of committees, have urged a Senate Public Works Subcommittee to approve four Arkansas water projects.

Sens. John L. McClellan and J. W. Fulbright yesterday asked the committee to approve a proposed nine-foot channel for the Ouachita River, at an estimated cost of $43,550,000; flood control projects for McKinney Bayou, at cost $940,000, and Manicé Bayou, $686,000, and a $1,235,000 Village Creek Flood Control project.

Rep. Wilbur Mills supported the Village Creek proposal. Rep. Orval Hays joined the senators in backing the Ouachita River and McKinney and Manicé Bayou projects.

McClellan is chairman of the Senate Government Operations Committee. Fulbright heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Mills is House Ways and Means Committee chairman and Harris heads the House Commerce Committee.

McClellan also asked approval of a project to stabilize the Red River channel, at an estimated cost of 1½ million dollars.

Ike Warns He Won't Go to Summit Meet Under Berlin Threat

Says Faubus Making ESD Contribute

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, a candidate for governor, has charged that office managers of the state Employment Security Division would meet here today to discuss contributions to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' campaign fund.

Bennett, who opposes the governor's bid for a fourth term, charged that ESD employees were being made to contribute $50 to $100 to aid Faubus.

ESD Administrator James L. Bland confirmed that office managers were to meet, but said the topic would be manpower needs in a national emergency.

"There is nothing to stop the employee from making a voluntary contribution," Bland said, "but certainly the ESD has nothing to do with it."

Bennett said he would ask the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department if ESD employees come under the federal Hatch Act, which prohibits political activity. ESD employees are paid with federal funds.

U. S. Plans to Hit Moon
in Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within two years the United States plans to hit the moon with a 500 pound space package — something the Soviets accomplished last year.

The American moon shot, as now projected, will have these differences:

1. The package that smashes on the moon's surface will have television cameras grinding away until the last instant, which should produce extreme closeup views of the moon.

2. The rocket also will carry a 300-pound piggyback package of instruments that will break loose and make a softer landing on the moon. These instruments, it is hoped, will survive the landing and radio back important information about the earth's only natural satellite.

Soviet scientists last Sept. 13 made a bullseye on the moon with Lunik II, an 800-pound spacecraft. This vehicle had no cameras, and was destroyed by the impact.

Then on Oct. 6 the Soviets photographed the hidden backside of the moon with Lunik III, which sent the pictures back to earth and later went into orbit around the sun. That vehicle weighed 614 pounds.

The U. S. moon plan, announced Tuesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, feels, "together the packages would weigh about 600 pounds. If the soft instrument landing works it could be the first time man has sent a machine to the moon that would continue to function after landing."

Nixon's total thus edged above the 663,785 votes received by President Eisenhower in the 1952 primary after a contest with Harold Stassen.

Kennedy's victory was not binding on the state's 81 delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention in July. Nixon's victory, however, apparently assured him of Pennsylvania's 70 votes at the Republican convention.

In Massachusetts, Kennedy's home state, all votes were written. Returns from 1,497 of the state's 1,619 precincts gave him 72,464 votes.

Again Stevenson was a distant second, this time with 3,610 votes. Nixon had 43,747 votes, with Rockefeller far behind with 3,453 votes.

In the election of convention delegates, Kennedy won a solid 41-vote bloc. The Republican 38-vote delegation leans to Nixon.

Kennedy, campaigning in West Virginia for the May 10 primary, had little time to celebrate after spending a full day touring the state's southern coal fields.

He planned more campaigning today.

His primary rival, Humphrey, left for Washington Tuesday night after two days of hunting votes across the state.

Meanwhile Symington, who has not entered any primaries, continued his two-day vote hunt in Michigan, lashing out at the Eisenhower administration.

In a speech prepared for a luncheon in Grand Rapids today, he said the administration was using "a weary old argument" in saying a $1.25 an hour minimum wage would increase unemployment.

During the month of February, U. S. Savings Bond sales in Hempstead Co. totaled $21,183 bringing the year to $44,639 or 15.3 per cent of the quota of $290,000 . . . Howland County sales were $19,308, making the year $25,441 or 18.8 per cent of the $135,000 quota . . . Lafayette sales amounted to $2,873 for the month, the year totaled $22,755 or 40.9 per cent of the $56,000 quota . . . Nevada Co. sales were $10,736, the year total was $18,219 or 15.8 per cent of the $115,000 quota.

Highway Bids on 18 Projects

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission today opened bids on 18 jobs, including a million dollar section of the new Greater Little Rock expressway.

Apparent low bids were totaled unofficially at $5,300,871.

W. R. Fairchild Co. of Farmerville, La., was apparent low bidder at $1,000,667 on 1.7 miles of the expressway, which is part of the Little Rock-Memphis interstate road. The segment bid on today is the North Little Rock area.

Next biggest job was the 1½ mile traffic interchange near Kelser as part of Interstate Highway 55. Apparent low bidder was S. & W. Construction Co. of Memphis. Its proposal was $826,128.

Kennedy's Hopes Are Inflated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Primary results inflated the presidential hopes today of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy, who has several hard-campaigning rivals for the Democratic nomination, outpooled them all with overwhelming write-in totals Tuesday in the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries.

Nixon, who has no announced rival for the Republican nomination, rolled up impressive totals that buried the hopes of those who wanted to see outbursts of sentiment for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Of the two primaries, the one in Pennsylvania had the most significance.

In Pennsylvania, unofficial tabulations of Democratic write-ins from 7,778 of the state's 9,013 precincts gave Kennedy 150,412 votes.

Adlai E. Stevenson was a distant second with 22,329 votes. Other totals: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota 10,399; Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 5,151; and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas 2,148.

Nixon, the only name listed on the president preference ballot, had 864,120 votes with a 2,225 precincts reporting. Rockefeller had 9,335 write-ins.

Nixon's total thus edged above the 663,785 votes received by President Eisenhower in the 1952 primary after a contest with Harold Stassen.

Kennedy's victory was not binding on the state's 81 delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention in July. Nixon's victory, however, apparently assured him of Pennsylvania's 70 votes at the Republican convention.

Latest Soviet Threat Brings Sharp Caution

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a wide-ranging news conference, warned Nikita Khrushchev today against "ill-motivated" and "planned" attacks on a great patriot who lapsed into mistakes in his old age.

In effect, Eisenhower cautioned Soviet Premier Khrushchev that threats about Berlin could wreck the May summit conference in Paris before it gets started. The President said he will never go to any conference under the threat of an ultimatum.

This was his reply to Khrushchev's recent declaration that the Western Allies will forfeit rights of access to divided Berlin if the Soviet Union signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany. Eisenhower expressed confidence, however, that Khrushchev won't press things too far.

On Korea, Eisenhower was at pains to say the United States had no part in inciting the anti-Three riots which led to the resignation of the 45-year-old Republic of Korea president.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower cautioned Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today that he will never go to any meeting, obviously including the May summit conference, under the threat of an ultimatum on Berlin.

Speaking at his news conference, Eisenhower said Khrushchev's latest Berlin threats "are not to be taken too seriously since they fall short of an ultimatum."

In effect, however, the President seemed to be making it clear that if Khrushchev gets too tough he can wreck the Paris summit conference next month even before it starts.

Eisenhower seemed quite confident, however, that Khrushchev will not press the issue to that point.

Furthermore, Eisenhower indicated he believes Khrushchev will avoid creating at the summit a self-inflicted crisis which would block progress on disarmament and easing of tensions.

The Berlin issue cannot be settled now, the President declared, but some better approach to a solution may be developed at the summit.

In the course of the discussion Eisenhower said the possibility that he will veto some legislation may make it necessary for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to fill in for him briefly at Paris.

He said he does not expect to have to call in Nixon. But he said he has notified the other heads of government, including Khrushchev, that there is a possibility of such action.

The President explained today in the wake of word that Nixon will sit in for him at the conference if "domestic requirements" force Eisenhower to return to Washington before the Paris meeting ends.

At his first news conference in a month, Eisenhower dealt also with these other matters:

SUMMIT—Eisenhower said he never will attend any summit conference under a threat or ultimatum by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev regarding the future of West Berlin. The President made that remark in commenting on Khrushchev's assertion earlier this week that the Western Allies will lose all rights of access to that divided city if the Soviet Union sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Eisenhower discounted any idea that Khrushchev was making a serious threat. But if the Kremlin leader did mean it seriously, the President went on, he wanted to

Recommends Two Sweet Potatoes

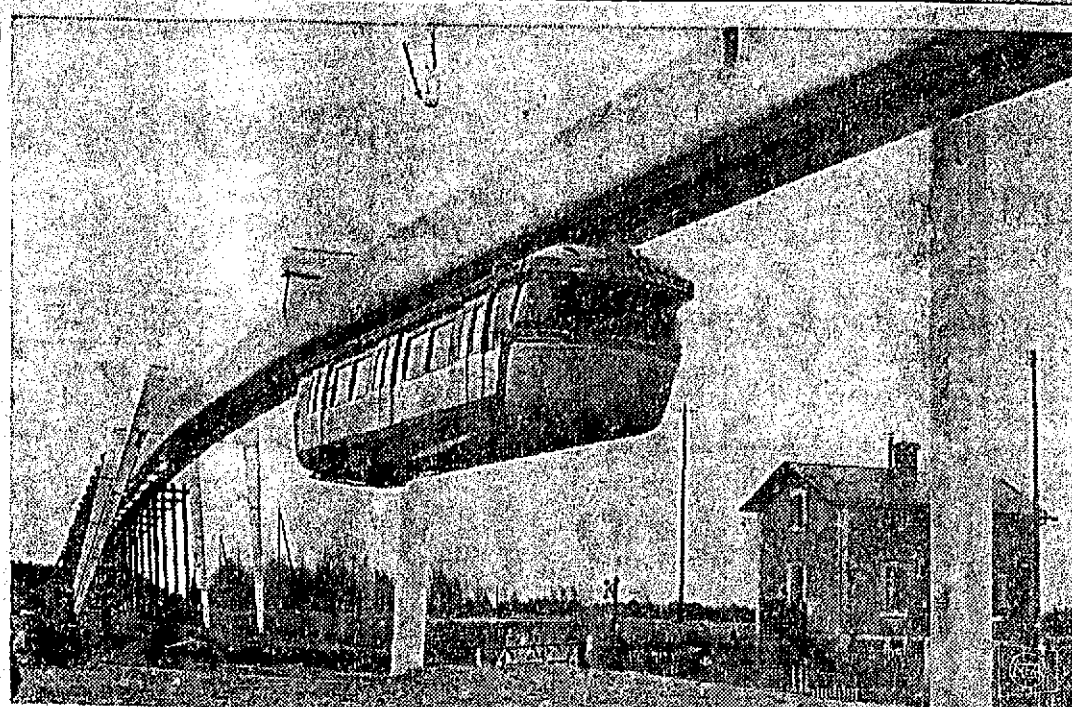

There are two sweet potato varieties, Allgold and Copperskin, which are generally recommended for Arkansas.

The Allgold variety is better adapted to the heavier soils of the state with Copperskin Goldrush doing best in the sandier soils.

Allgold generally outyields Copperskin, but does not grade out as well. Allgold is inclined to be rougher and produces more jumbo sizes. Both varieties have excellent flesh color and are desirable for processing, either for canning or freezing.

Copperskin with its darker skin is well received on the fresh market. The lighter skin color of Allgold is acceptable in some markets but not desired in others.

Both varieties store well, but Allgold has a thin skin and is inclined to bruise rather easily. Allgold makes sizeable roots earlier than Copperskin and can be dug earlier in the fall for sale as fresh, unmeared potatoes.

Hoffa Faces U. S. Court Hearing

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa, controversial president of the Teamsters Union, faces a federal court hearing today on a suit seeking his ouster from union office.

The trial is a civil proceeding involving no criminal charges. Its start hinges on legal rulings on a half-dozen pending moves by Hoffa to block or delay the case.

Hoffa's removal is sought by court-appointed monitors who allege he misused $600,000 of union funds in promoting various personal business projects, including a Florida real estate development as a retirement village for union members. Hoffa has denied any wrongdoing.

Several of Hoffa's protests against holding the trial are pending before U. S. Dist. Judge P. Dickinson Letts, who celebrated his 85th birthday Tuesday. Hoffa has asked Judge Letts to disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias, to delay it pending decisions in other tangled court proceedings, or to cancel the trial altogether. Hoffa contends the only way he can be removed is by the union that elected him.

Pending also is a decision from the U. S. Court of Appeals on Hoffa's plea that it stop Judge Letts from proceeding with the case.

Behind the court snarl is a 2½-year litigation that arose from charges that Hoffa rigged his own election as Teamsters president in the fall of 1957 when Dave Beck Sr., center of widespread Teamsters corruption charges, stepped out of the union helm.

The rigging charges were compromised on a basis that let Hoffa take over as Beck's successor but with a three-man board of monitors named by Judge Letts to supervise a Teamsters reform drive. The monitors have charged Hoffa with trying to block the cleanup. He vigorously denies it.

Big Welcome Given to DeGaulle

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle, basking in the warmth of this city's magnificent welcome, has hailed the establishment of a new France in the community of nations.

The man who pledged himself to restore grandeur to his faltering homeland told compatriots and Americans gathered in his honor Tuesday night:

"A new France—which is the true France of always—has made her appearance on the world scene. She has again made order in her own home and she has resumed the performance of her moral international responsibilities."

De Gaulle's appearance at the Waldorf-Astoria dinner capped a day of emotional and heartfelt reunion with New York, which welcomed him back after an absence of 15 years.

He leaves by plane this morning for San Francisco to continue his American tour.

In a toast to the man who rallied France in her darkest moment of defeat in World War II, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller raised his glass before 2,000 guests at the dinner.

"At a somber moment in history, standing nearly alone, you represented the legitimacy of your people because you embodied its deepest values. After victory was won you represented for over a decade the conscience of your nation. And you returned to office in an hour of crisis to inspire purpose and dignity," Rockefeller said.

Miss Anita Louise Burson and Bill Weldon Owens Are Wed
Miss Anita Louise Burson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy W. Burson Sr., and Bill Weldon Owens of Texarkana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Owens of Junction City, pledged their marriage vows at the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, April 24.

The Rev. Rufus Sorrells officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Tapers were lighted by Miss Carol Greer of El Dorado, cousin of the groom. Pre-nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist, who accompanied Miss Alice Wagner of Little Rock who sang "Because" and "Smilin' Through."

The bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father. She wore a floor-length wedding gown of lace over satin fashioned with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves. The full skirt had a lace panel in front, trimmed with satin and lace appliques, and swept into a chapel train. With her dress she wore long gloves. Her veil fell from a tiny, flat, headpiece encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias centered with a yellow-throated white orchid.

An arch of greenery and baskets of white stock provided the setting for the ceremony. Yellow tapers were used in the candelabra.

Miss Dixie Green of Fulton was maid of honor. She was attired in pale yellow brocaded cotton. The dress had a scoop neckline, a full skirt and a matching cummerbund. Similar dresses of pale green were worn by the bridesmaids, Misses Lynn Williamson and Margaret Phillips, both of Little Rock. Each attendant carried a bouquet of daisies.

Little Miss Paula Fielder of Longview, Texas, cousin of the groom was flower girl, while another cousin, Master Eugene Fielder of Longview was ring bearer.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his uncle, Noah Fielder of Longview. Ushers were Jerry Owens of Junction City, brother of the groom and Leon Biggs of Little Rock.

Mrs. Burson, mother of the bride, wore a beige embroidered sheath with bone accessories and Mrs. Owens, mother of the groom, wore a beige dress with black accessories. Each had a daisy corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A color scheme of yellow and white was used. The serving table was covered with white lace over a yellow background and was centered with an arrangement of daisies.

The punch and wedding cake were served by Mrs. Polly Davidson of Norphlet, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Troy Burson Jr., sister in law of the bride. Miss Helen Finney of Little Rock had charge of the bride's book.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a white silk dress with black accessories. She pinned the orchid from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens will make their home at 1002 Texas Avenue in Texarkana.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robertson of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sutton Jr., and sons of Russellville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Cline Franks. David and Mike Sutton remained for a long or visit.

W. A. Mudgett, E. J. Whitman, Norman Moore, Dr. F. C. Crow, and Arliss Trout, local Kiwanians attended an interclub meeting in Texarkana Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Faris and children have as their guests, her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ewan, and Mr. and Mrs. Norm Champ, all of Queensland, Australia. The two couples are on an eight month world tour.

Mrs. A. K. Holloway returned home Sunday after several days in St. Louis, at Barnes Hospital.

Capt. and Mrs. James H. Moore and daughters, Barbara Ann and Jan of Benton have been the guest of his mother, Mrs. Theima S. Moore.

She has a diamond engagement ring, yes, and she takes care of it. Here, she half-fills a jar with soapy hot water, pops in the ring and shakes the jar so that it acts as a miniature washing machine. Then she rinses diamond and dries it. Her attention to perfect grooming (right) has lifted her out of the realm of average pretty girls and turned her into something special.

Wife Beater Called an Adolescent Bully

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I am 19 and have been married one year and two weeks. Our little girl is three months old. In this one year my husband has hit me twice and threatened to leave me more than once. The other night he told me he wanted to get rid of me, because I told his friend he could get out. My husband gave this friend the key to our apartment. The friend is not married.
I have not left because of my little girl but I cannot take much more. I am going to talk to my minister and would like your advice. — Bewildered make it perfectly clear that he never would attend the summit conference to be held in Paris next month under the threat of any ultimatum.

The President said he thinks it is neither feasible nor possible to settle the differences over Berlin at the summit meeting, but he is hopeful some progress in that direction can be made.

NIXON-Eisenhower said he expects it will not be necessary for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to take over for him and represent the United States at part of the summit meeting.

The White House announced Tuesday that Nixon will represent the President at the conference if domestic problems make it necessary for Eisenhower to return to this country before the meeting ends. Explaining that decision, Eisenhower noted that Congress will be in session during the summit session, starting May 16.

There will be important bills before Congress, Eisenhower went on, and some could require his attention in Washington. He mentioned specifically the possibility that he might want to veto some measures. Some legislation, he remarked, "requires the deepest study and daily personal consultation with his aides."

The President whipped a draft of paper from his pocket and said he wanted to make from two sections of the Constitution.

The first read from Article VI specifying that there shall be no religious test as a qualification for office. Then he read from the Bill of Rights the part saying that Congress shall make no law prohibiting the exercise of religious freedom.

Eisenhower thus left no doubt that he feels a religious issue has no part in the campaign. But he said the Constitution puts it much better than he possibly could.

SPECIAL MESSAGE — Eisenhower said a special message he plans to send Congress is being delayed while the Administration attempts to reach agreement on a health insurance program for the aged.

Republican congressional leaders said Tuesday that the message would be an Eisenhower appeal for action on a good many planks of the Administration's program. They said it also will express opposition to what they called Democratic budget-busting proposals.

As for the health insurance issue, Eisenhower said one thing he is absolutely sure about — he is utterly opposed to any form of a compulsory program which would call for an increase in the Social Security tax.

Chisox Break Loose After a Long Slump

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a long time coming, but the American League champion Chicago White Sox finally broke loose. They junked their slump just one game shy of the cellar behind a pair of overdue guys—Bob Shaw and Al Smith.

Smith, batting a scrawny .136, hit a home run and was 5-5 in a 15th outburst while Shaw blanked Kansas City on five hits for an 8-0 victory Tuesday night, his eighth in a row over the A's since 1958.

That ended the White Sox losing string at four, and kept them from plunging past Cleveland into eighth place. The Indians, winning their second in a row after dropping their first four, dealt the first place Detroit Tigers their first defeat, 2-1 in 12 innings. Boston beat the New York Yankees 7-5, and Baltimore out-slugged Washington 11-10.

In the National League, St. Louis dropped San Francisco out of a first-place tie with rain-idled Pittsburgh by beating the Giants 4-2. Los Angeles defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-1 and the Milwaukee Braves beat Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings as Warren Spahn won his first with a fourhitter.

Shaw, last year's top percentage pitcher (.750), 18-6 in the AL, became the first to put away a

Jordan Will Try a Tune Up Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — An announced tune-up fight for Don Jordan 13 days before he defends his world welterweight title may produce more scrapping outside the ring than in it.

It could also get Jordan in serious trouble with the National Boxing Assn. if Jordan goes through it. It is rare for a fighter to risk injury in a tune-up so close to a title match.

An announcement Tuesday that Jordan will meet Candy McFarland of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout here May 14 brought these quick developments:

Anthony Maceroni, president of the National Boxing Assn., promised "drastic action" against Jordan if he fights the tune-up. Maceroni said such action could include a withdrawal of NBA recognition.

Jack Doyle, promoter of the title bout, said Jordan's manager had agreed not to have any fights six weeks prior to the championship defense, against Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret May 27 at Las Vegas, Nev.

Al Flora, Baltimore promoter of the Jordan-McFarland fight, threatened to sue for one million dollars if outside meddling knocks out his bout.

Charles Rosenbaum, chairman of the Maryland State Athletic Commission, announced the fight was unavailable later for comment.

Rosenbaum said Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight champion, will appear on the same program in a 10-round bout with Jay Anderson, formerly of Philadelphia and now of Patterson, N.J.

Wynn Hawkins, 24, a right-handed rookie, and Jim Perry combined for a five-hitter against the Tigers, whose run was unearned in the seventh inning. Vic Power singled and scored the Indians' first run in the sixth on a single by Johnny Temple, then brought in the winner on a two-out single in the 12th after a walk and Don Dillard's pinch single.

Hawkins (1-1) went 11 innings, with Perry pitching a hitless 12th. Ex-Indian Rocky Colavito was 0-for-4 for the Tigers, who had won their first five. Dave Sisler lost it in relief.

The Yankees stayed within a half-game of the Tigers while losing their second—both to Boston's Jerry Cusale (2-0). It was Cusale's seventh straight success since last August 10 and third over New York in that span. He needed Tom Brewer's relief help, after giving up a two-run, sixth-inning homer by Yogi Berra, who had four RBIs.

Jim Gentile slugged the Senators for the second straight day with a three-run homer for the Orioles. This one beat reliever Camilo Pascual (1-2) in the eighth after Washington had taken a 9-8 edge on Earl Battey's grand slam. Reliever Chuck Estrada won his first in the majors.

Cardinals Have Caught Up With Sad Sam

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals have at last caught up with old pal Sam Jones, having the big right-hander for the first time in six seasons when he tried to dust them off for real.

Sad Sam, retaliating after teammate Jim Davenport had been pumkined by the Cards' Larry Jackson, fired his first pitch behind Joe Cunningham. But after Umpire Shag Crawford served a lecture on dusters, Cunningham singled and the Cards were off on a four-run first inning for a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

That tripped the Giants out a tie for the National League lead with the Pittsburgh Pirates idled by rain at Philadelphia in the first postponement of the major league season. The Los Angeles

Angry Ted Williams Pounds Door

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams was angry. He pounded a fist on the locker door and followed it up with a vicious kick after Tuesday's Boston-New York game.

"Can you beat this for luck?" he growled. "I was feeling great. Best in years. I was just getting in the groove. No aches and pains. I was getting set for a helluva year. I felt it in my bones. Then this thing had to happen. I guess I just don't live right." But don't quote me. Let 'em (the Ted) stuck out his long left leg.

Gingerly he felt the area of the calf just below the back of the knee, where he suffered a pulled muscle April 19.

"I pulled it right here," he said. "It still hurts. Not so much now but I can't run yet. I should be ready in about three or four days. But that will add up to about 10 games that I'll miss."

"Say, I really laid into that first one," he said with the old Williams' gusto. "I hit the sweat out of it. And I felt good up there at the plate, too."

"If I can only get in there for about two weeks without getting hurt again, I'll really explode. I guess I just don't live right." But don't quote me. Let 'em (the Ted) stuck out his long left leg.

It didn't take Ted long to get over his anger. Especially when those two home runs he hit in his first two games were mentioned.

Women to Favor Economy Policy

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—A two-year program which would commit the League of Women Voters to support economic policies "which promote world development and maintain the strength of the American economy" was presented yesterday to the league's convention.

The 1,600 delegates to the national meeting will vote on the program tomorrow.

Nuclear Aid to Britain Is U. S. Offer

LONDON, (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan said today the U.S. government has offered to help Britain maintain a completely independent nuclear deterrent.

Macmillan said in the House of Commons that Washington is willing to sell Skholt missiles to Britain under terms which would give British

Spa Attorney Files for Office

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—Henry M. Britt, a 46-year-old Hot Springs lawyer, today filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

No one else has filed for the minority party nomination.

A native of Illinois, Britt has lived in Arkansas since 1947. He is a former assistant U. S. attorney for Arkansas Western District.

Britt is married and the father of three daughters.

Macmillan's statement 24 hours before the opening of a parliamentary debate on Britain's nuclear deterrent policies.

In that debate Macmillan's government faces accusations by opposition Laborites that it wasted about 280 million dollars on the 2,500-mile range Blue Streak missile, which now has been abandoned as a carrier for nuclear warheads.

Without Blue Streak Britain, during the second half of this decade, will have to depend on the United States for instruments to deliver British-made nuclear warheads.

The Defense Ministry has shown an interest in the Skybolt, fired from bombers considerable distances from targets, and in the Polaris, designed to be fired from submerged submarines. Both Skybolt and Polaris are still under development.

McKelway Is Re-elected by the AP

NEW YORK, (AP)—Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington Star was re-elected today president of The Associated Press. The election took place at the annual directors meeting of the worldwide news cooperative.

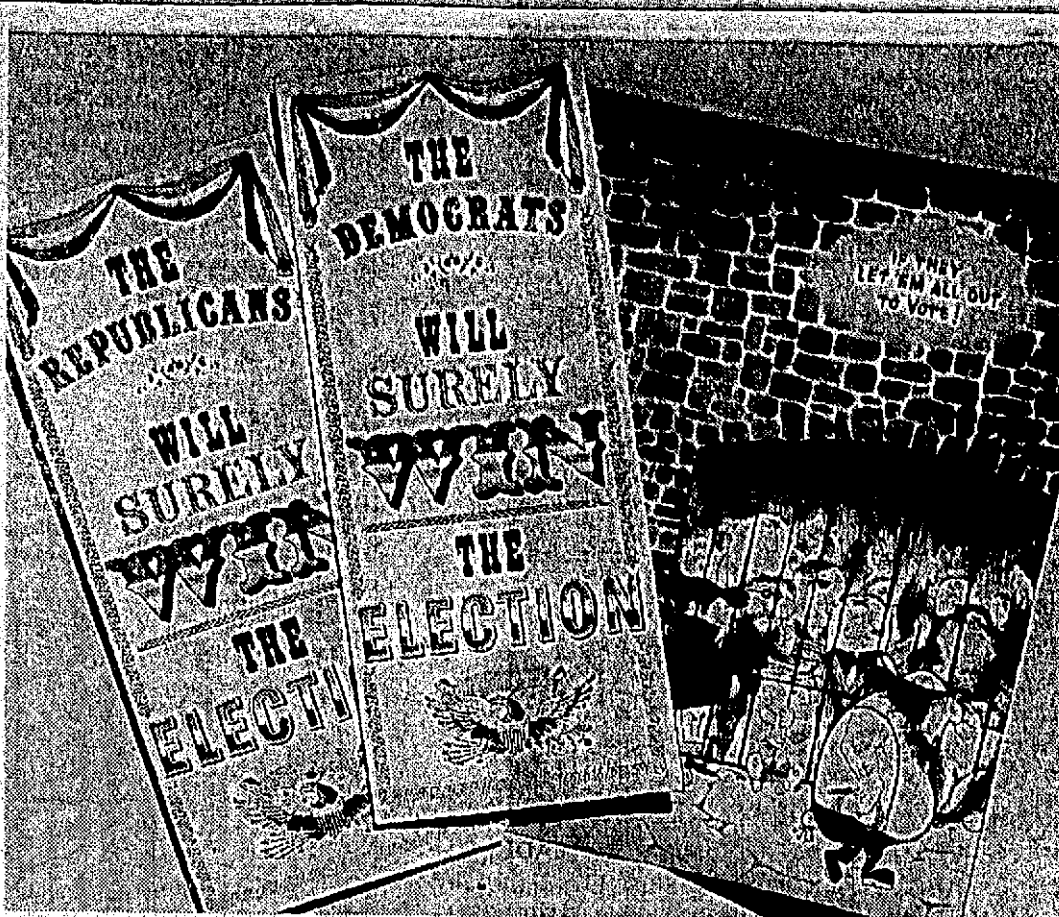

Richard W. Clarke of the New York Daily News and Sunday News was chosen first vice president and Raymond L. Spangler of the Redwood City, Calif. Tribune second vice president.

Lloyd Stratton and Robert Booth were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Frank J. Starzel continues as general manager.

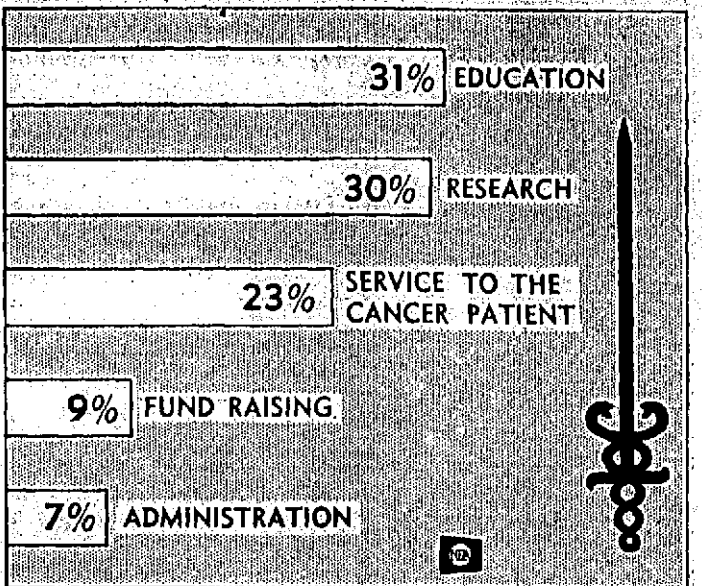

Chosen members of the AP executive committee were McKelway, Clarke, Spangler, W. H. Cowles, the Spokane, Wash., Spokesman-Review; Robert McLean, the Philadelphia Evening and Sunday Bulletin; John R. Reitemeyer, the Hartford, Conn., Courant.

Elected to membership on the finance committee were, Clarke Reitemeyer, McLean, McKelway and Franklin D. Schurz, of the South Bend, Ind., Tribune.

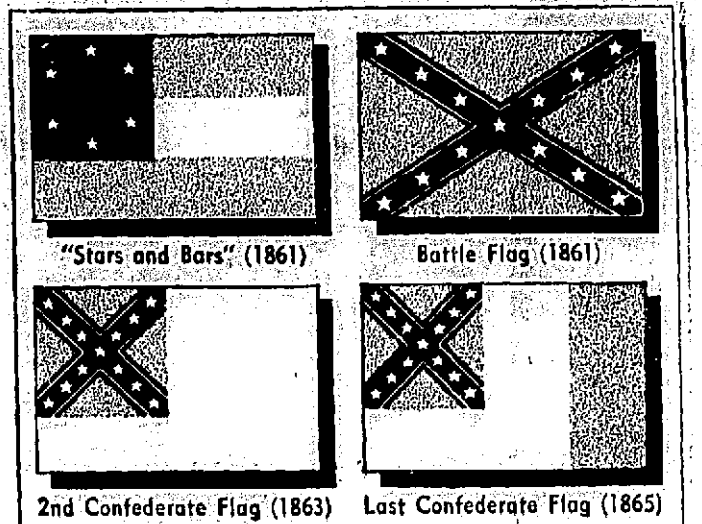

Four directors were re-elected and three new members were chosen for the 18 man board Monday.

EVERYBODY WINS—Some of the sharpest humor in the U.S. today is coming from the greeting card industry. Birthdays, holidays and traditional occasions of all types have been lampooned mercilessly. Election year is a natural for this type of card and look out! Impartially aimed at both parties, here's the first salvo fired by American Greetings Corporation.

GOAL: UNLIMITED—How the dollars contributed to the American Cancer Society are spent is indicated, above, in a breakdown of the 1958-59 budget. Goal for the 1960 campaign, now under way, is "unlimited"—all the funds possible to gather nationwide will be devoted to the all-out fight against cancer.

FLAGS OF THE C.S.A.—Soldiers of the Confederate States of America fought under several different flags from 1861 to 1865. Best known is probably the one in upper right-hand corner, above, usually—and incorrectly—called the "Stars and Bars." It was used by commanders in the field, although it never received the approval of the Confederate Congress. First official flag was the six-starred flag, upper left. Too easily confused with the U.S. flag, it was succeeded in 1863 by one incorporating the Battle Flag with its blue St. Andrew's cross on a field of red. The remainder of the flag was white. Finally a vertical red stripe was added to the edge in 1865.

On a hot morning in August, Rose, unable to sleep past sunrise, went downstairs to put coffee on and, after it was ready, sit in the window alcove with a cup beside her and fruit.

Later, the phone rang. It was Ann Bailey, and she said in the strangest voice, half whisper, half croak:

"Jim's gone and I don't know what to do. I feel so sick, Mrs. Holmes."

"I'll be right over," Rose said. She found the door open and Ann on the living room couch.

"What happened?" she asked.

Ann said, faintly, "After Jim left I got on a stepladder to put paper on the cabinet shelves, and got dizzy. When I came to I was on the floor."

Rose went to the telephone and called Steve Jennings.

Later, Rose rode in the ambulance with Ann. It did not strike her as at all strange that she was wearing shorts and a shirt.

On the way to the hospital she held Ann's hand. And Ann said, "If I lose my baby..."

"You won't," said Rose comfortingly. But she did.

Rose called Jim from a booth while Ann, her admission completed, was taken upstairs.

Rose stopped at Admissions to ask the number of Ann's room, but it wasn't until she was at the door that it meant anything to her—then it seemed imperative that she turn and run and keep time running. But she couldn't. She knocked and went in.

The nurse was there and Ann turned her dark head on the pillow and looked at Rose. Her eyes were piteous and frightened. The nurse said low, "She can't seem to stop crying."

Rose sat down by the bed. She did not look around. This was a hospital room like many others, of fair size and with a bath and a big window. The walls were pale blue. There were two straight chairs, and a large armchair; night table, a bed table. There was nothing of Mark in the room in which he had died.

Ann asked, "Jim?" The tears spilled over, and her breath was shaken like a child's who, crying tries not to make noise.

"He'll be out on the next train," Rose said.

When Jim came, Rose left. Before she did, she said, "Come have supper with me tonight."

She thought, seeing his frantic but controlled anxiety, that he must be spared the crowded coffee shop where people talked and trays went by and there was usually a line, standing, during the busy hours.

Later Jim called her from the hospital. He would taxi home get his car, wash up and come over, if she still wanted him.

"I can't understand it, falling just that little way—she's hardly bruised," Jim said after he and her—then it seemed imperative that she turn and run and keep time running. But she couldn't. She knocked and went in.

The nurse was there and Ann turned her dark head on the pillow and looked at Rose. Her eyes were piteous and frightened. The nurse said low, "She can't seem to stop crying."

Hard to Say What Paar Really Like

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK, (AP)—It's hard to say what Jack Paar is really like, but he has proved again that he's a fine showman when given his head. Tuesday night, for instance, Paar starred in an hour special and it was a smart, bright, and highly entertaining program.

The whole show was as personal as a toothbrush. It started with Jack telling poignant tales of his childhood: "We were so poor we didn't have meat—every time I went past the butcher shop I thought there had been a terrible accident." And it concluded with recurrences of tape showing his February walkout on his show, and his return.

In between there was a fine comedy sketch by Shelley Berman, Elaine May and Mike Nichols, and some interesting singing by Keely Smith. Cliff Arquette, Jack's late evening sparring partner, had to clown his way through a pretty feeble buranything about it—she knew if she told you, you'd fret."

"If only she wouldn't take on so. I'm sorry about the baby, we had a lot of plans—but it's Ann I care about."

She was terribly sorry for him, but envy was a knife in her side.

When he left to return to the hospital, he said, "I have to keep on telling you how grateful I am. Thanks for the supper."

She thought, "They'll have half a dozen more, but losing the first must be a bitter thing. Here was a man who had lost his oldest son."

Going up to read before she slept she stopped at the head of the stairs. She thought, "I went into that room. I sat beside that bed."

She'd sworn never to enter that hospital again unless she or the children were ill, but today there'd been no choice. She'd ridden in an ambulance, gone up in an elevator, walked down a corridor and opened a door. It looked like all the other doors and was not.

It was where Mark died.

How could you do that? she asked herself.

In the gray-black darkness at the top of the stairs—for, as usual she had forgotten to switch on the light, it was as if Mark spoke to her the clear grave voice in her mind said: Because you did it for someone else.

She thought, "He's right, before she realized the tense. Here she was again, back in the present."

Everything was here in this room, this house, as in all rooms and houses, all over the known universe—the past, the present, the future.

Rose sat down on what she still thought of as a guest-room bed—she'd had the other twin bed taken out when she moved to this room—and pushed her hair out of her eyes. She began to cry, not with the explosive weeping which sometimes, as she had told Steve, overtook her when she was alone, but a quiet weeping, unresentful and grieving.

No one to say, "Here's a handkerchief. No shoulder to lean on."

She missed the shoulder. It was more than a missing, it was a need, a lack, an emptiness. She missed the voice.

Undressing, Rose thought: I'm so tired. She walked around the room and picked up Debbie's letter from a dresser Debbie, worrying about Tim. This was a switch. Rose wasn't worried; at his age you fell in love and out again.

What am I thinking of, she asked herself. At his age I fell in and never fell out.

Mental Barrier to 27' Jump

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A 27-foot broad jump is the mental barrier today.

"But 28 feet is not out of the question," says Jesse Owens, who owns the world record in the broad jump—28 feet 3 inches.

Owens set the mark at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25, 1935. The old-time Ohio State scholastic has seen ninety attempts at his record but it stands as the oldest of the standard marks in track and field.

Nixon to Sit in for President

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon will sit in for President Eisenhower at the Paris summit meeting if the President is forced by "domestic commitments" to return before it ends.

The White House announced that Tuesday, saying Eisenhower could spend only a week in Paris for the East-West talks because of a scheduled visit to Portugal set for May 23. The summit meeting starts May 16.

Political observers saw in the announcement a potential boost to Nixon's prestige as a statesman. Such a move would bring the vice president prominently into the highest policy councils of the world just a few weeks before the Republican National Convention at which he expects to be named the GOP presidential candidate.

lesque of a ballet.

All in all, it was a good hour of entertainment.

Earlier, also on NBC, there was a Starline salute to the USO, with some nostalgic music and film clips of entertainers during World War II. Hostess Jane Morgan has a nice voice and plenty of style.

Recommended tonight: "The Dark and the Light," ABC, 7:30-8:30—Special documentary on Africa's current struggles; "The Dishonor System," CBS, 10-10:30—a look at ghost writing for pay on behalf of student; "Invitation to Paris," ABC, 10-11—musical variety, taped in Paris with such French stars as Maurice Chevalier, Fernandel, Line Renaud.

How Much Do You Know About Classified Ads?

It's True! They Get Results

(Find the Answers Below)

ANSWERS

- How much does a 1 column x 3 inch classified ad cost for three days? For six days?
 - Why is the rate for six days not twice the cost of the same ad for three days?
 - Is there any advantage in running a display ad as compared to a word ad?
 - Are classified word ads effective?
 - Approximately how many people read the Hope Star classified section each day?
- A 1 column x 3 inch classified ad costs $5.85 for three days. $9.90 for six days.
 - You save $1.80 by running the ad six days because the rate is lower on a six day basis.
 - Yes, there is an advantage in running a display ad. It is more easily read and catches the reader's attention at once.
 - Yes, classified word ads are effective. This is the most used method of advertising apartments and houses for rent. Word ads can be used in almost all types of businesses.
 - Approximately 14,000 people read the classified page every day. In a week one ad will have been read 84,000 times.

Mrs. Pearlne Hopkins left recently for her home in Chicago after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Climmie Hopkins and friends in Saratoga. Enroute she will spend a few days in St. Louis.

Carpenter Big Winner in Britain

LONDON (AP)—A carpenter today won 100,000 pounds—$280,000—with a penny bet on Britain's soccer pools.

The prize went to Stanley Wilson, 40, who up to now has supported a wife and two children on a wage of 12 pounds—$33.60—a week.

He took a day off from his job to collect the prize in London.

An official of the pools told Wilson: "You have made pools history. You are the first person in the world to win 100,000 pounds for a penny."

Bigger prizes than this have been won on soccer pools in the past, but never for such a small stake.

Wilson hit the jackpot by correctly forecasting eight soccer matches to end in a tie.

His wife was too busy looking after their sick baby, a month-old boy named Alan, to attend the presentation.

She stayed at home with him and their other son, Stephen, 6, in the small house which Wilson rents for 21 shillings—$2.94—a week.

"Now I can build a super bungalow," Wilson said. "We'll all live with every modern comfort that money can buy."

Threat to Fish Revived by Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today cold water from the Grocers Ferry Reservoir in Arkansas still poses a threat to catfish and other warm water fish downstream.

He said the Interior Department has decided that a low regulating dam at the reservoir, now under construction, wouldn't solve the problem.

Arkansas sportsmen and conservationists have complained about the situation.

Army Engineers recently told a delegation from the state that it would be costly to halt work on the dam now and redesign it as suggested by wildlife experts to provide for release of warm water from the dam.

The project is located on the Little Red River — a tributary of the White River — near Heber Springs, Ark.

Ross Leffler, assistant secretary of the Interior Department, advised Fulbright in a letter that a low dam downstream from Grocers Ferry would not increase the temperature and oxygen content of the water.

"It would be necessary to construct a dam of considerable height in order to establish a warm water stratum from which water of suitable temperature could be drawn," Leffler said.

AUSTRIAN UFO—Unidentified Flying Object was photographed by a news cameraman in Leibnitz, Austria, in March. C. W. Fitch, UFO investigator in Cleveland, Ohio, received this photo direct from "Montag," Vienna newspaper which printed it. The photographer said he saw a shining light far ahead as he rode a motorcycle through the countryside at 1 a. m. He thought it was a falling star. But it remained motionless over the road. He felt heat from it as he snapped the picture from a distance of 50 feet. After six to seven seconds it flew off.

School Group Can't Decide on 2 Issues

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The new president of the National School Board Assn. said today that the association may never take a stand on two of the most controversial issues in public education.

Roy O. Franz, Pueblo, Colo., said, "I doubt very much that this association will ever be able to pass a resolution on either school integration or federal aid to education."

"These people represent home-town opinion in 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Federal aid and integration are highly controversial issues, and opinion varies from locality to locality."

Few Facts of Living in Arkansas

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

It's not unusual to run across a census taker to be bothered by dogs—or an occasional angry housewife—but a Hot Springs enumerater was chased by a duck. Which makes a ducky story.

Another Garland County counter came across an elderly couple who couldn't get downstairs to unlock the door. Undaunted, she slipped off her high heels and climbed the fire escape to count them.

In Conway a census taker's questions, put to a woman just returned from a shopping trip, brought this reply: "No, I can't answer any questions. I'm just worn out."

Somewhere or other, however, the counters manage to count about everybody.

But who counts the counters?

Blytheville may become the first Arkansas city to have an official flag.

The City Council has instructed Mayor Toler Buchanan to name a committee to select flag designs. And a motor company is offering a $25 prize for the winner. Today is the deadline for entries. The committee will pick the top three or four and the Council will make the final selection.

It's quite an idea. After all, look what Betsy Ross started.

What book in a library is most often overdue? Well, says Mrs. Earl Belk, the Garland-Montgomery County regional librarian, in Hot Springs the book that will turn up on the overdue list most often is a number titled "Stop Forgetting."

People, she says, "just forget to stop forgetting."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus charges that all his foes in the governor's race are backed by integrationists, prompting the editor of the Harrison Times to note:

"They are, however, rabid segregationists on one point. They want to segregate the governor from his power and office."

In Batesville, Johnny Mitemum plays a fiddle he made himself.

He took an old meat can, a broom handle and a set of guitar keys, got a little help from a president of the NASB Monday night. The election came after the delegate assembly had argued long, and sometimes bitterly, about the role of the federal government in public school financing.

The question of integration didn't come up, although most of the delegates hold strong views on it one way or another.

Franz personally favors federal aid to education. Many school board members argue that federal aid means federal control, but Franz doesn't agree.

"I speak from personal experience," he said in an interview.

"In Colorado we have participated in a number of federal programs, and I have not seen one single indication of federal control or dictation."

An opposing view was expressed by K. H. Roberts, a rancher from Kaycee, Wyo. Roberts proposed a resolution asking no further federal aid programs for education "until a complete and careful study has been made, state by state, to determine if each state has exhausted its financial resources in support of education."

His resolution was tabled, and thus killed, by a vote of 40-25.

Everett B. Sackett, a college professor from Dover, N.H., argued in favor of a federal aid program with provisions designed to insure local control. His motion was tabled and killed by a vote of 40-22.

Told Clark Could Have Had Big Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—House payola investigators were told today that disc jockey Dick Clark could have had a personal financial cut of 27 per cent of the songs played on his radio music show.

The estimate was submitted to the Legislative Oversight subcommittee by Bernard Goldstein, vice president of Computech, Inc., a New York statistical and electronic data processing firm.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) promptly challenged the survey. He said it failed to give weight to records produced by the record-making subsidiary of the American Broadcasting Co., which carries Clark's program, and discs produced by close associates of Clark.

Moss contended that the computech survey was weighted in Clark's favor.

Goldstein said Clark had hired Computech to analyze his show. Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) commented that Clark agreed to the survey in cooperation with subcommittee staff investigators.

A suggestion that the music industry launch a self-policing program under an individual of national stature—functioning in the manner of the baseball commissioner—was given the committee by Paul Ackerman, music editor of Billboard, an entertainment industry publication.

Harris said the subcommittee had rejected requests by Clark to be called now. It was expected Clark would be heard Thursday or Friday.

In a statement opening the new hearings Harris strongly implied that the current inquiry will concentrate on charges of financial ties involving disc jockey network, and record and music business.

The subcommittee disclosed last month that Clark at one time had financial interests in some 17 record and music firms.

Clark has denied any improper payola—the industry term for payments to plug records—but was required by his ABC network to divest himself of his record-making companies.

Arkansas GOPs Endorse Nixon

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Republican State Committee today endorsed Vice President Richard Nixon as "the next president of the United States."

There were no dissents.

The resolution approving Nixon, who apparently will be unopposed for the Republican nomination for president, was offered by Lonzo Ross of Conway, chairman of the state organization's Resolutions Committee.

Negro Man Killed by Freight Train

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—A 39-year-old Negro man was killed by a Missouri Pacific freight train near here yesterday.

Officers quoted train crewmen as saying they saw Leroy Turner sitting on the track. The crewmen said the locomotive whistle was sounded and the brakes were applied, but the train struck Turner before it could be stopped.

welder, and he was ready to make music.

It sounds, one observer says, "as good to me as a store-bought fiddle."

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Coster of Elgin, Ill., were fishing recently on Bull Shoals Lake, when he hooked a real tanker bass—8 pounds 9 ounces. He had it weighed, then went back to the same spot to try again. Wham! Next cast a 7 pound 7 ounce bass.

Then his wife tried her luck. First cast, a strike—and a 10 pound 10 ounce beauty.

Weighing the big fish set Bill Jennings, who lives in the lake area, to thinking. Maybe they were still hitting. More he thought the better the idea sounded, so off he went. A few casts and he tied into a bass—a 10-pounder.

All of which may not be a record. But it's a pretty good average.

Man, home from hard day at the office, to wife presiding over outdoor grill: "What's burning to night?"
